A difference of opinion has arisen between Robert L. Stewart, who has the contract for constructing the new municipal building at Wells and Woodworth aves., and the members of the local Bricklayers and Plasterers' Union as to what shall constitute a day work and a day's pay for bricklayers working ope the structure. The bricklayers want 34 for eight hours' work, and Mr. Stewart has so far refused to grant this demand. When seen yesterday he said that the State law referring to public work provided that eight hours should constitute a day's work and that the prevailing rate of wages should be paid. Mr. Stewart says that the prevailing rate of wages in fonkers is and has been for some time & a day for ine hours' work, or 41 4-9 cents an hour. Mr. Siewart says he pays his men by the hour, and he has no objection to them working only eight hours on the public building, but he does object to paying more than 44.49 cents an hour. The bricklayers say that the Attorney-General has decided that the prevailing rate of wages should be paid for eight hours work on municipal buildings, and on this they base their demand. Just how the case will come out is bard to telliat present. The foundation of the building is completed. Mr. Stewart said he nad engaged brieflayers from New-York City to go to work yesterday afternoon, and said they would have begun had it not been for the snow. He expects to have men at work this morning if the weather permits. The local bricklayers do not think that out-of-town men will work on the building for a rate of wages which they have refused. The local amon is of the opinion that the law requires Mr. Stewart to pay the bricklayers working on the building 4 a day for eight hours work, and it will endeavor to have the law enforced. The affair has created a good deal of talk about town. Groups of workingmen were seen here and there during the foremon discussing it. Members of the Bricklayers Union spoke in a determined way, and they believe that Mr. Stewart will have to accede to their demand. them working only eight hours on the pub-

WHITE PLAINS.

The Board of Supervisors discussed yesterday morning Supervisor See's resolution indorsing the Nussbaum Good Roads bill. In the debate Mr. See said that he had long since ceased to expect any legislation on the part of the Board looking toward legislation on the part of the Board looking toward the general improvement of the highways of the county. The subject was laid over for two weeks for further consideration. The question of building a new jail or reconstructing the existing one was also taken up and made a special order for December 15. Supervisor See gave notice that to day he would introduce a resolution suspending Rule 6 and would move the appointment of two additional members to the Committee on Equalization of Assessments, said members to be representatives of the farming section of the county.

yesterday before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court the members of the court practically expressed the opinion that Justice William D. Dickey exceeded his powers when he appointed Benjamin B. Odell, jr., and Edward H. Hobbs permanent receivers of the Murray Hill New-York. The motion was made Louis Marshall, representing the directors of the bank, and Messrs. Trask and O'Brien, the re-ceivers appointed by Justice Pryor in New-York, the court being asked to resettle the order made by Justice Dickey so that it may conform with the recent decision of the Appellate Court in the matter of the dissolution of the bank.

When the doors of the Murray Hill Bank were closed the directors applied to Justice Pryor for the appointment of temporary receivers in voluntary dissolution proceedings. Later, the Attorney-General began an action for the compulsory dissolution of the bank. Justice Dickey held that the Attorney-General's action took precedence over that brought by the directors, and appointed Messrs. Odell and Hobbs temporary receivers. The bank directors answered the suit of the Attorney-General by setting up their proceedings to dissolve the corporation, but Justice Dickey set aside this the corporation, but Justice Dickey set aside this answer as frivolous, and gave judgment dissolving the corporation and appointing Messts. Hobbs and Odell permanent receivers. This order it was sought to modify yesterday.

Mr. Marshall, in making the motion, urged that the very receivers whom the Apppellate Division judges rejected were appointed to take permanent charge of the bank's assets, and said that, in his opinion, the court which appointed these receivers had clearly transcended its powers.

"Perhaps Justice Dickey did not know his order was not in conformation with our decision," said Justice Brown.

"The decision of this court was printed in the newspapers," said Mr. Marshall, "and every one else knew of i."

W. E. Kisselburgh, representing the Attorney-General, opposed the application on the ground that the entry of the judgment dissolving the corporation abated the special proceedings by the directors in New-York, under which Justice Pryor appointed receivers, and that the funds of the bank could not be administered therein. Justice Brown said that the court had already decided that point, and did not wish to hear any further argument on the subject.

"You seem to be willing to argue anything bur."

and did not wish to hear anything but the subject.

"You seem to be willing to argue anything but the motion." said the Justice." You should advance that argument before the Court of Appeals. We may be wrong, but our decision is against you, and I think that all decisions uphold our justition." The papers in the case were submitted, and a decision in writing will be delivered.

Mr. Battle answered: "Yes, in my opinion, the

As a result of a conversation between Senato sider this question of penalties, and to suggest cer tain destrable changes which would tend more to the efficacy of the provisions of the law. Cominging his evidence, the witness said the most usual class of excise violations was Sanday selling. The subject quickly led to the question of the much-discussed sandwich. Mr. Buttle said that at first the sandwich was looked upon by the authorities as an evasion of the law. Whether the Police De-partment took a similar view he was unable to say, but the result of the decisions of the courts upon the point was such as to discourage further action by the poince. Mr. Battle was emphatic in his opinion that a more accurate definition of what constituted a meal and a guest, and just how the claims were affected by the provisions of the law, would be of assistance in determining excise violations, and would result in the law being more stringently enforced than at present.

Senator Raines—It is cherged that the hotel provisions under this act have a tendency to increase the number of so-called hotels, and that they were used as resorts of disorderity persons. Have your observations led you to conclude that such is the case to any great extent? A.—No, not to any great extent. Of the complaints brought to the District-Attorney's office only a small proportion show that these places are used as disorderly houses.

On—It these houses were disorderly the model.

Q-li these houses were disorderly they would be punished under the present law, just as they were under the old? A. Yes, But it is said by persons having to do with the enforcement of the criminal law that it is easier for proprietors of these houses to evade the law and the police when they run their places under the name of a hotel.

Q. Were there such places before this law was brought in? A. Yes, such cases have been prosecuted from time immemorial.

Mr. Ford Would a definition of what a meet is afford more facilities for presecution? A. of course, every amendment of the law to interest its stringency would increase the restriction of the liquor traffic.

At Mr. Rouss's establishment it was said that Mr. Lawson had been employed there, and that he had resigned of his own accord about a year ago. Since then it was understood that he was in business for himsel. He had an office with the firm of Lawson Brothers, and traded in linens and handkerchiefs.

It was said that Mr. Lawson had been suffering for a long time with his right leg, and as a remedy used applications of carbolle acid. On this account it was thought that his death might have been accidental, and that he might have been accidental, and that he might have taken the polson in mistake for medicine. A person accustomed to using carbolle acid, however, would detect what it was before drinking it.

Dr. Holmes said he could not ascribe any motive for suicide on Mr. Lawson's part. He said he was told at the house that Mr. Lawson was in good spirits when he retired Sunday night. He was found dead at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, and Dr. Holmes helleves that he had then been dead about its hours.

Robert Lawson, with whom the dead man lived, is a member of the firm of Lawson Brothers, importers of curtains, at No. 25 White-st. The book-keeper there said that the dead man's business was distinct from that of Lawson Brothers, John E. Lawson, he said, had been in business for himself about five months. The bookkeeper confirmed the statement that the dead man had been troubled with a sore leg, and added that Mr. Lawson had complained for the last two months that it pained him greatly. It was said that Lawson came here originally from Belfast, Ireland.
